South Florida contractors on edge over threats of shutdown

“When you shut down a job site, or quickly bring it back up, it's a lot of close contact, a lot of close

Perla Lichi, who leads an interior design firm Perla Lichi Design, worked on a groundbreaking last weekend of a synagogue in Lauderhill. Lichi said some projects in the design phase are coming to a halt, but others are going forward. “It is slower than it would normally be,” Lichi said. “These are bumps in the road, we are going to jump one by one.”
